Updates

Consider Expanding Flu Immunization Capacity:

Immunizations are one of the most effective public health interventions to protect individuals and communities. In Alberta, influenza immunizations are provincially funded and universally accessible for all Albertans six months of age and older. The Alberta Influenza Immunization Program will begin in October. Getting a flu shot this year is particularly important as it can lower the chance of respiratory illness during the upcoming influenza season. The COVID-19 pandemic has created a series of challenges for the delivery of influenza immunizations this fall. This includes:

- The need for infection prevention and control (IPC) measures to reduce the risk of transmission of COVID-19 to staff, volunteers, and clients
- The availability of healthcare professionals to provide immunizations due to competing priorities
- Access to personal protective equipment (PPE) for immunizers and support staff
- Access to suitable venues for immunization clinics
- The fear of exposure to and risk of transmission of COVID-19 during influenza immunization clinics

Alberta First Nations and Inuit Health Branch is available to discuss options to expand local immunization capacity. Please contact Mary Zhang at: marymunlie.zhang@canada.ca for more information.

Nominal Roll

It's time to collect the Nominal Roll of students who are resident on-reserve and attending school, either First Nation, federal, provincial or independent/private school. Instructions on how to submit your Nominal Roll to the Department and the timelines for collection have been sent to school administrators. The health and safety of students and staff remains the priority during this school year. Regional staff will be working very closely with recipients to submit Nominal Roll in order to capture the most accurate numbers while recognizing the challenges related to COVID-19 that many schools are experiencing.

Health Measures in Edmonton Zone

Effective October 8th, the Alberta government has implemented additional voluntary public health measures in the Edmonton Zone to help prevent the spread of COVID-19 and to protect Albertans due to the increase of cases in the city. Question of the Day

Q: Does Vitamin D help against COVID-19?

A: News has been circulating about vitamin D offering protection against the effects of COVID-19, and reducing the severity of illness for COVID-19 patients. Currently there is not enough scientific evidence that vitamin D supplements are beneficial in preventing or treating COVID-19. Adequate vitamin D is still important for overall health and immune function however. Vitamin D is obtained through sunlight, food sources (eggs, margarine, salmon and trout, soy and low-fat milk beverages) as well as supplements. You can learn more on vitamin D here.
